REPUBLICANS TO OPEN CAMPAIGN IN DONORA

Dr. Brumbaugh and Others of Note to be on Hand

BIG RALLY PLANNED

County Organization Proposes Demonstration---Visitors Coming

The Republicans of Washington county will fire the first big gun in the fall campaign at Donora next Tuesday evening, when they will hold an old fashioned rally in the river town. County Chairman Norman E. Clark, has completed all arrangements for the big affair and indications point to it being one of the most enthusiastic political meetings that has been seen in Washington county for a number of years.

Among those who wil be present and give stirring adresses will be Martin G. Brumbaugh of Philadelphia, candidiate for governor; Hon. Henry Houck, of Harrisburg, candidate for secretary of internal affairs; Hon Thomas S. Crago, of Waynesburg, candidate for congress at large; and Hon. William M .Brown, of New Castle, candidate for congress in the district. The ticket will also be represented by John H. Hallam of Washington, candidate for state senator; Dr. J. Add Sprowls, of Donora, Harry Russell Myers, of Washington and G. P. Baker of Washington, candidate for general assembly. Other well known Republicans will also be present and address the rally.

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, of Philadelphia, candidate for the gubernational honors, will give one of his usual stirring addresses. Mr. Brumbaugh who has been at the head of the schools of Philadelphia as superintendent for a number of years, is an interesting and forceful speaker. He has made a thorough study of political conditions in this state. Dr Brumbaugh is undoubtedly the strongest candidate that could have been chosen by the Republican party and has scores of friends in all political parties who have volunteered their support of his candidacy He stands on his past record as an educator and public servant.

Hon. Henry Houck, of Harrisburg, candidate for reelection as secretary of internal affairs. on the Republican ticket, is perhaps one of the most widely known men politically in the state. He has been identified with the Republican party since 1867, when he first accepted a position in the Department of Public Instruction. Two years later he was promoted on his merits to the office of Deputy State Superintendent. which position he filled for 38 years.

Mr. Houck is as well known as a lecturer as he is as an educator. During his public carer he has lectured in nearly every city and town in the state and has been honored with numerous degrees by the highest colleges and universities of the state. He was first elected Secretary of Internal Affairs in 1906 and was re-elected in 1910.

Prof. Houck will have the united support of his thousands of friends throughout the state who know him to be a man of metal. well fitted for the place through his close relation with state affairs for so many years. and his untiring efforst to improve conditions throughout the state. He has assured the members of the Washington county committee that he will be at the Donora rally without fail. and adds that he will have a number of things to bring before the Washington county voters which will make them stand up and take notice.

Hon. Thos. S. Crago of Waynesburg, candidate for election as congressman at large on the Republican ticket will be present to meet his old friends and give them his pledge of a continuance of the policies which have met with such popular favor in all sections of the district. Mr. Cargo is one of the most popular candidates on the ticket and his admirers

KILLED WHEN CAUGHT IN ROOF COAL FALL

Edwin Gillingham, of Webster, the Second in Large Family to Meet Violent Death Within Period of Two Months

Edwin Gillingham, aged 22 years, met death at the Equitable mine of the Pittsburg Coal company near Webster Thursday afternoon when he was caught under a fall of roof coal. He lived in Webster and his was the second violent death in the family in two months. His brother, Sherwood Gillingham, died from injuries when struck with a baseball bat on the head during July.

Edwin Gillingham was a mule driver in the Equitable mine. He was taking out a loaded trip when a portion of the roof fell on him. Workmen nearby hurried to the rescue, but it was too late to save his life. Death was almost instantaneous. The body was removed to the Ford and Whitehill morgue at Donora.

Gillingham's father, Stephen Gillingham, of Webster, five brothers and six sisters survive. One of the sisters is Mrs. John Hagenach, of Lookout avenue, Charleroi. The victim of the tragedy was a well known young man about Webster, his home.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery.

FOOD PRODUCTS STILL GOING UP

Wheat to Sell for $2 Per and Flour Aeroplaning to $10 a Barrell

Wheat at $2 a bushel, flour at more than $10 a barrel and loaves of bread one half their present size—these things, say dealers in grain and flour. are soon to be forced upon the people of this country by speculators greedy for money.

The predictions made that the burden laid upon the country by avaricious speculators. would soon become alarmingly heavy. were accompanied by the declaration that nothing justifies the present upward climb of prices. More wheat will be garnered this fall, it is said, than the country can possibly use. Enough will be left over to supply the demands of Europe.

The foreign buying now being done was not large enough to account for the advance in prices of wheat and flour, it is asserted. And yet, say students of market conditions, the extra ordinary ascent of prices for flour mean only one thing—the plunder of the public.

It is charged that the farmers of Pennsylvania have joined with those of the west to hoard their wheat and thus lend aid to the speculators who are forcing up its market value. Farmers are said to have in their hands 95 per cent. of the spring wheat crop government agents say they are refusing to part with any of it. May wheat has passed $1.30 a bushel. The farmers expect to get more than that for their wheat.

Those who are buying bread want to know how long the speculators on the exchanges and the farmers will be allowed to dictate the price of food.

The government might be able to take summary action, it was pointed out. with the various exchanges of the country, but it seems to be helpless to compel the holders of grain to sell except at their own will.

Baking interests take the view that wheat and flour are unwarrantedly high and that the situation had reached a dangerous stage.

The proprietors of one of the largest bakeries in Pennsylvania points out that the annual consumption of flour in the United States is one barrel per capita.

Estimating a population of 100,000,000 and five bushels of wheat to one barrel of flour, the United States will consume 500.000.000 bushels of wheat.

This year's wheat crop, according to the latest government bulletins. is 911,000.000 bushels. There would therefore remain 411,000,000 bushels. From this must be taken, according to estimates of milling interests, 150.000.000 bushels of wheat that go into the seding, cereals, macaroni. crackers and starch.

FAYETTES VS CHARLEROI

The biggest game of all games of the baseball season will be played on the Charleroi baseball lot tomorrow afternoon beginning at 3:30 when Fayette City and Charleroi will contest for leadership in the Monongahela valley league The game will in a big sense decide the pennant winner of the league. In addition it will be a booster's day game.

Both Fayete City and Charleroi will have their strongest lineups to present The teams will be evenly matched. as they were in the past. Captain Walter Urber. of the Charleroites this morning stated tha Swaney will be placed on the mound. However there will be reserve pitchers on hand. Brightwell will probably do the twirling for Fayette City.

The two clubs of late have been hitting the ball hard. They likewise have been playing consistent ball in the field. In their lineups are included some of the best baseball material in the Monongahela valley and either team would make a class C. league team look like 30 cents.

A big crowd is looked for in the event of good weather. It will be one of the closing games of the baseball season.

SINKING OF OCEANIC HAS LOCAL INTEREST

The sinking of the merchant cruiser Oceanic of the White Star line off the north coast of Scotland this week possessed a distinct local interest from the fact that Prof I. T. Daniel. supervisor of music in the schools on a trip from Liverpool to the United States in 1899 traveled on it. The Oceanic made its maiden voyage leaving on September 6, 1899, Prof Daniel being one of the passengers.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD; LIFE STORY WONDERFUL

Miles Farmer One of Surveyors of the Mason and Dixon Line

DESIRED TO WANDER

Diary Details Narrative of Highly Educated Bible Student's Life

The life story of a highly educated septuagenarian possessed of a wanderlust, yet determined to live as a right-minded man should live was brought out at Monongahela this morning in investigations into the death of Miles Farmer, aged 75 years of Masontown, whose dead body was found on the railroad track near Greenlee on the M. and W. branch Thursday.

A man who was one of the original surveyors of the Mason and Dixon line and a Bible student and a wide reader, he found himself possessed many months ago of an uncomfortable desire to wander. Despite the objections by members of his family, he started tramping. He made expenses through the sale of photographs and came by his money honorable.

When he was a surveyor in early life on the Mason and Dixon line, Farmer had acquired a compass. This was the instrument that he used for guidance. It was an old-fashioned instrument and it was through it that investigations were started that lead to the clearing up of his life's story.

Farmer carried a diary in which daily entries had been made. For the last three years up until July of this year he had a perfect record of daily events, including such details as the rainfall and condition of the weather at any point where he happened to be. That he was a keen observer was attested by the diligence with which he prepared his diary. His booklet is one of the most wonderful documents ever prepared.

The wanderer was a bible student who read through the Bible twice while traveling last year. Entries in his diary show what time he spent in communon with things spiritual and ndicate the scriptural passages reviewed. His diary revealed his whole history.

This morning the body was prepared for burial from the morgue of a Monongahela undertaker and shipped to Morgantown. How he had met death is a mystery, but it is supposed that he simply toppled over from heart affection or some kindred trouble. He is well known throughout Fayette county and has been seen many times through the Monongahela region.

HOPELESS SITUATION

So hopeless is the situation to the Democrats that they have practically fused with the Washington party and ignored the principles that have brought them to ruin and the country to a depression.

The expression has been heard frequently of late that the European war, to all intents and purposes serves the United States in the same manner and degree as a protective tariff. In other words, if the producers of Europe are taken from the fields and shops and sent to the front, there will be a serious falling off in imports, leaving Americans in full possession of their own markets. This is the way Mr. Palmer sees the situation.

Such a view is subject to qualifications. The essential factor is to obtain the necessary ships. As an equivalent to the policy of protective tariff a European war is sadly deficient in that it lops millions from the tariff revenues of the government. Whatever gain may accure to the manufacturers is at the expense of the treasury.

What the European war does accomplish, however, is the illustration of the economic necessity of tariff protection at all times. The principle of protection was forcibly brought home to the American people during the Napoleonic wars, when American statesmen showed clearly that the American public should not be placed at the mercy of Europe. The great argument for protection at that time was to have industries so firmly established in the United States that no European war could deprive us of manufactured articles. The present crisis points to the same conclusion. It shows that it is absolutely necessary for the United States to be made industrially independent of foreign countries and to be brought to the point where it can produce for itself everything needed by its own people. And the only way this can be done is under a tariff protecting us from the cheap labor of Europe.

It has been a favorite argument with the tariff—for revenue—only men that if any industry could not complete successfully with the cheap labor products of Europe such industry, in line with real economy, should be permitted to die. If such a policy had been followed, as long advanced by the Democrats in the past, it would now mean that the nation would be utterly unable to support itself in the present European crisis. Even now the war will deprive the United States of many articles such as chemicals used in agriculture and manufacturing, and would likewise deprive the country of many manufactured articles, such as textiles and metals, if such industries had not been well established under the protective tariff policy at home.

PROVING CARLESSNESS

A railroad in the southwest recently started out to prove its contention that many autoists are careless at railroad crossings and the result was surprising, even to the railroad officials. Men were stationed at a crossing with instructions to note the action of drivers of automobiles as they crossed the tracks, remarks the McKeesport Tribune.

The watchers made the astounding report that only two per cent of over 3000 automobile drivers took the precaution to look both ways before crossing. The watchers were at work only a week and in that time 3,607 automobiles crossed the tracks. Of that number 2,907, or 80 percent of the drivers did not look in either direction. Six hundred and twenty, or 17 percent, looked only in one direction, and only 80 drivers, or two percent, looked in both directions before crossing the tracks, and 296 of the almost 3,000 drivers who looked in neither direction sent their machines over the tracks at a speed of 20 miles per hour. Six drivers saw a flagman's signal to remain off the tracks, but they disregarded the signal and crossed.

It is hard to believe that only 80 of the almost 3,000 drivers exercised ordinary care in crossing railroad tracks but the investigators are prepared to back up their report by witnesses. The investigation was made in El Paso, and if autoists of other sections of the country are as careless as they are in and about El Paso, there should be action taken by class of autoists and others interested in conserving life and limb to break up the dangerous practice.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

About 2 o'clock the other morning Mr. Jenks was awakened by his wife, who whispered in his ear that there was a burglar downstairs. Jenks was out of bed in an instant. He slipped on his trousers and shoes, siezed a revolver, and slid from the room.

Several minutes passed and no sound was heard from the anxious wife. At last, summoning up all her courage, she too, got out of bed. Creeping to the staircase, she leaned over and listened. There was not a sound.

"William!"

"What is it?" her husbands voice replied, but it came from above her, not below.

"What are you doing up there?" cried Mrs. Jenks.

"Why didn't you say the burglar was downstairs?" asked Jenks.—Youth's Companion.

"Ma, better lock up the bathrom and get out the old wooden tubs." The Altoona Tribune tells the story.

"Why Pa——?"

"And hide the phonograph and those $7 records."

"For goodness sakes——"

"And while you're at it you'd better put away your fancy dishes and get out those old blue things you hate so."

"What's geting into you pa?"

"We've got a few summer boarders coming here from the city, and we've got to give 'em the sort of country life they expect."

BENTLEYVILLE

The belated serenade of Prof. Elmer M. McGill and wife took place at their home on South Main street, Thursday evening. At first a great many smaller boys assailed the house with various sorts of ear splitting instruments. This assault soon won the day for them and subsequently a treat. Attracted by the success of the smaller boys a number of the town's young men decided that they would give the professor a second serenade and likewise win a treat—they were mistaken in the treat business. Getting even better earsplitting instruments than did the smaller boys have they be besieged the house, beating the porch floors yelling hideously and rendering music in all keys but the right.

Prof. McGill seemed quite contented with the uproar and did not show up to quite the pandemonium with a "fiver." Discouraged at the professor's conspicuous absence the attackers renewed the attack with impetus at different intervals. After besieging the house until late at night the party quit, and discouraged at failure, sought their individual homes.

CHARLEROI GETS ONE-SIDED GAME FROM DUNLEVY

While Fayette City was busy walloping the Roscoe team of the valley league Thursday afternoon the Charleroi hopefuls maintained their reputation by lambasting the Dunlevy lads on the local field in a one-sided six inning game. The score was 10 to 1.

Barney Wolfe pitched for Charleroi lads and pitched well, as evidenced by the fact that they got only three of the scratchiest kind of hits. It was only by accident that they scored at all.

Charleroi's scores came mostly in the fifth inning, when five hits meant five runs. The score:

will be out en masse to hear him. Mr. Cargo is a forceful speaker and a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

It is the present plans of the county committee to have an open air meeting if the weather permits. The Donora Steel Works band will be on hand to keep things lively. Should the weather be inclement, the rally will be held in the opera house.

Already assurances have reached the county committee that the attendance will be a record breaker. It is an assured fact that the river district will be well represented, and Washington, Canonsburg and the Panhandle towns will not be lacking in numbers. The widely advertised baseball game between the court house officials and the bankers of Donora, which is scheduled for next Tuesday, will be an added attraction for the scores of Washington people. Delegations will be formed throughout the county and Donora will be the mecca for Republicans next Tuesday. It is likely that special transportation arrangements will be made to accomodate all those who wish to attend. Republican County Chairman Clarke stated that the rally would be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever held in Washington county.

LIGHT PROBLEM FOR BROWNSVILLE BRIDGE TAKEN UP

County Commissioners Null and Langley of Fayette county, and Controller Harry Kisinger, were in Washington Thursday to attend a conference with the local commissioners. The meeting was arranged to take up the lighting of the new Brownsville bridge, now nearing completion. A representative of the West Penn Lighting company was to have been present, but missed a train, and it was decided to postpone the conference. Another meeting will be held next Monday morning at 11 o'clock at Brownsville.

Not Yet Disposed of.

The case of the commonwealth against Harvey Donehoo convicted at the February term of court this year of a serious charge preferred by Cora Bell Tucker, a girl under 16 years of age, has not been finally disposed of. Upon motion and argument, the court granted a new trial, holding that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence. The commonwealth had no further evidence to procure other than that offered at the trial of the case, consequently it was not called up at the August term. The persons concerned came from the West Bethlehem section and there was considerable interest in the case.

CHURCH COUNTY'S OLDEST

The 135th anniversary of the founding of the Presbyterian church of Crosscreek, will be celebrated Tuesday, September 22, in connection with the fall meeting of the Washington Presbytery which will be held there. This is among the oldest congregations of this denomination in the county and is one of the strongest rural churches.

The church was organized in May, 1779, and since that time ten pastors have served these sturdy people. Preaching services were held there several years previous to the organization of the church. Some times the services were in the forts near where the present church building now stands while some were held under large oak trees. Often these services were held in forts while the people were seeking refuge from the attacks of the Indians. Today there lie in the old graveyard in connection with the church the remains of many persons who were killed by the Indians. Rev. John McMillan, founder of Jefferson college, preached there as early as 1775 and John Smith, of York county a few years later.

Considerable local history is centered about this old church and the celebration on September 22 will bring out many persons who have worshiped there and whose ancestors worshiped there more than a century ago.

WHITE TAGS THIS SEASON FOR HUNTERS

Hunters this year must wear the white tags issued from the state game department, or render themselves liable to arrest. Last year the tags were on buff cloth and it is said that some hunters to evade paying the $1 this year are going to use the same old tag, but the game wardens have been charged to keep a sharp lookout and any hunter caught wearing last year's buff tag will be arrested on sight. Thus far every county treasurer in the state has been furnished with a full complement of licenses and tags and all who apply will be served. The hunting season is on now for some birds, but within the next four weeks the season will be open for a number of birds.

MONGAH MINE HAS TROUBLE GETTING START

Mongah mine, opposite Monongahela has had trouble resuming operations this week because of some dissatisfaction among the miners. They claim that the company is discriminating in the hiring of the workmen. It is said that only married men and those who live in company houses from other mines nearby are being hired. A meeting was held on the Monongahela river bridge and it was decided not to work for the present at least. A report from the company's Monongahela office states that the company is not particular about resuming as the outside arrangement about the mine is all new and has not yet been tried out. It has been said that some of the haulage apparatus does not work satisfactorily and that it will be necessary to make some changes before the mine can be operated successfully.

DEMS STAND PAT ON FUSION; ONLY A SCHEME

Democratic candidates for state and united states offices are intending to stand pat in their contests, as emphatically stated by Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, one of them, in an interview for the Mail a few days ago.

Representative Palmer and McCormick, candidate for governor, in the statements issued Thursday at Lenni, Delaware county, denied that any of the Democratic candidates would be withdrawn to make room for a complete fusion ticket of Washington party and Democratic candidates.

"Any such movement at this time," said Mr Palmer, "would indicate a desire for political juggling".

Unconfirmed reports have been current that there might be other withdrawals from the Washington and Democratic tickets in the interest of fusion against the Republican candidates.

Any speculation as to my withdrawal as candidate for United States senator is wholly unfounded. Unless death overtakes me, I shall remain in the field and go before the voters in November," said Mr. Palmer.

Other the state Progressives are not inclined to be any too happy over Lewis' withdrawal. Complications are hinted.

At Philadelphia Senator Boise, Penrose, the Republican candidate mentioned the reason for the withdrawal. He said that it was plainly an effort on the part of Lewis to acquire possession of all the rights to appointment as attorney general by McCormick in the event that the latter would be elected governor. Senator Penrose declared himself very much unconcerned about the matter.

While the need of the rural communities today is intelligent and consecrated leadership, there can be about 57 varieties of opinion as to which consecrated leader the consecrated leadership should be vested in.

Comparison With Cave Man.

Everything considered, it is possible that the cave-man had an advantage over us. For though his words were few in number he had few ideas to voice, few thoughts to express, few activities to advance, and these were all of such a nature that his grunt was encyclopaedic in its ability to explain On the other hand, life is now so complex that with all our words, inflections, accents, mimicry, postures and gestures we are often unable to make our meaning perfectly clear.
